VICTORS THREATEN TO CAUSE TROUBLE FOR THE MADERO REGIME

Rebel Conqueror's Greedy Soldiers Becoming Impatient Over the Delay in Presenting Each One With a Fine Farm—Demand That Federals Be Cut Off Public Pay Rolls.

BELIEVE IN SPOILS THEORY

Having Driven Diaz From Country They Have Burning Desire to Annex Themselves to Public Payroll. Soldiers Receive Pay and Bounties, but Kick Because Promised Farms Are Not Forthcoming—Must Live on Promises For Some Time.

El Paso, Tex., June 12.—Having won a complete victory for Francisco Madero, the insurgents are now clamoring for the spoils that are considered the property of the victors.

Protests of a most vigorous nature are being made all over Mexico by the insurgents where former federal employees are still held on the payrolls. There was a tremendous mass meeting at the foot of the Juarez monument in Juarez for the purpose of registering a vigorous protest at the employment of former federals in the customs house, postoffice and other positions in Juarez.

The officials in charge of Juarez, from General Blanco down, declare that it would be impossible to conduct the business with new men, and that for the time it is necessary to keep the federals on the payrolls, but promise that as soon as new men can be broken in for the work the changes will be made.

Return Home in Bad Humor.

Many of the insurgents are going to their homes very much dissatisfied because they did not immediately get title to a farm, as had been promised. The insurgent officials say the homesteads will be given the soldiers as soon as the government can make the arrangements, but the insurgents want them now.

News from Chihuahua is that the situation is still strained and that the insurgents are likely to attack the city at any time if the federals are not removed at once. Governor Abram Gonzales has wired Madero at Mexico City, asking that the federals be ordered to leave so that the insurgent army can come into barracks while it is being mustered out. Very few troops have been mustered out anywhere in Mexico. Some are being discharged at Torreon, but elsewhere they are held under arms. At Torreon they are being sent home as fast as possible, each man receiving his horse and a dollar a day for each day he was in service and a bonus of from $15 to $40, according to the number of fights participated in.

The entire legislature of the state of Jalisco has resigned. The people in a mass meeting declared for the resignations on the ground that the members had not been legally elected. Over 700 insurgents are camped on the outskirts of Guadalajara, the state capital, demanding the surrender of the garrison. The conditions are similar to those in Chihuahua.

Warns Against Uprising.

Monterey, Mexico, June 12.—A dispatch from Puebla says: "Felipe N. Chacon, general of the Maderist forces, issued a circular in which he calls the attention of the other revolutionary chiefs of this section to the need of being alert, since he had heard that Guillermo Castillo y Papp, one of the chiefs, is trying to cause an uprising of the troops in this state and the state of Tlaxcala. General Chacon states that Castillo is trying to make his troops rise in insubordination."

Castro Headed For Trouble.

Sanctander, June 12.—Cipriano Castro's agents here say that Castro is now on his way to Venezuela, and that his arrival there will mean that the republic will fall into his hands.

SULLIVAN DROPS OUT

Retiring President of Ohio Miners Honored by Officers.

Columbus, O., June 12.—Dennis H. Sullivan of Coshocton, selected by Governor Harmon to succeed Joseph Bishop of Columbus as member and secretary of the state board of arbitration, resigned as president of the United Mine Workers of Ohio.

By his resignation John Moore of Rendville, the vice president, is advanced to the presidency. John Zlinka of Bridgeport has been selected to succeed Moore as vice president. At the meeting of the executive board Mr. Sullivan was presented a handsome gold chain and fob.

Out of Work; Suicides.

Toledo, O., June 12.—Out of work and too proud to beg for aid, as indicated by a note found in the pocket of his coat, William Powell, 25, of Akron, committed suicide by drowning in Maumee river.

Important Vote Expected To-day

Now Predicted Senate Will Pass Direct Election Bill.

Washington, June 12.—The senate will vote today on the resolution proposing an amendment to the federal constitution that will provide for the direct election of United States senators. There seems to be no doubt that the resolution will be adopted by the senate, but probably not in the form that it came from the house. The test will come on the amendment to retain to the federal government the power to control the elections in the states for senators by prescribing the time, place and manner of holding such elections, when ever congress in its judgment may deem it necessary to exercise that power. It is likely that this amendment will prevail by a very narrow majority. The opponents of the amendment admit that the outlook is in doubt.

Car Hits Cow; 16 Hurt.

Cincinnati, O., June 12.—A car on the Cincinnati, Georgetown & Portsmouth railway struck a cow a few miles out and was derailed, and 16 passengers were injured more or less seriously, but none of them fatally.

Banker Tells Limaite Good Times Are Coming.

Lima, O., June 12.—Henry Clews, sage of American financiers, stopping over here from his address to Ada graduates, declared himself as optimistic on the business outlook. He believes that instead of a panic as the result of government probes and supreme court decisions, that the country is just entering a new era of prosperity on a safe and sane basis, and that there is no occasion for alarm in commercial, financial or manufacturing circles. He thinks the uplift will come with the passage of the Canadian reciprocity bill and final adjournment of congress.

Wants to Keep Tax Rate Within Ten Mill Limit.

Columbus, O., June 12.—Governor Harmon, by vetoing the Hudson bill for a 1½ mill state levy, and that section of the McGuire highway department bill which increased from 1 to 1½ mills the maximum county road tax, dealt the good-roads movement a body blow. Each measure would have produced in the neighborhood of $2,500,000 a year.

The governor also vetoed the repealing section of the McGuire bill, the effect being to restore the present 1-mill maximum for the county's portion of carrying on the good roads movement. The appropriation bills also carry $400,000 for this year and as much for next year from the state general revenue fund for highway building.

The net effect of the vetoes is to check the good roads movement from faster progress than at present, and to postpone indefinitely the plan of an intercounty system of highways.

Governor Harmon was stirred to this action wholly by a determination to protect the 1 per cent tax rate limit. The McGuire bill excepted the entire 1½ mill county levy, while the Hudson state levy, which would have come within the limit, would have left only 9½ mills available for all other county, municipal, township and school purposes.

The state educational school levy is 45¢ of a mill, so that in reality only about 9 mills would have been available for local purposes after the taxpayers had paid on an 11½ rate.

Refuses To Join Merger

Chicago Baker Puts Crimp in Gates' $30,000,000 Bread Combine.

Chicago, June 12.—Discussion among the promoters of the proposed $30,000,000 bread merger led Paul Schulze, president of the Schulze Baking company, to refuse to enter into an agreement for the combination of several large bread manufacturing concerns. The proposed merger is being thwarted by John W. Gates and is to be known as the National Bread company.

Bread companies in Baltimore, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and other cities are to be included in the combination when all arrangements for the merger are completed.

Change Hanging For Electrocution.

Washington, June 12.—Electrocution may be substituted for hanging for capital offenses in the District of Columbia, if a bill introduced by Representative Caleb Powers of Kentucky becomes a law. It further contemplates commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment in case of female offenders.

Spaniards Defeated.

Paris, June 12.—The correspondent of the Temps at Bania, Morocco, telegraphed that a clash had occurred between the Spanish troops and a force of tribesmen at Souk Arba Dekert. The Spanish losses were 100 men killed. The tribesmen suffered a loss of probably 60 dead.

Loan Agents Indicted

Former Mayor Bond of Columbus Figures in Bribe Probe.

Columbus, O., June 12.—Former Mayor Anson C. Bond, now a manufacturer of Cleveland, who was indicted jointly on two counts with Senator Thomas A. Dean for the alleged attempt in 1908 to bribe Senator John Drake and W. L. Atwell to vote against the Rose bill, came to Columbus and furnished bond in the sum of $10,000. He characterized the charges as absurd.

J. V. Moeder of Cleveland and L. C. Miller of Akron, both salary loan men, were indicted on charges of giving money to Representative Evans of Canton to vote against the Haas bill, regulating the loan business.

Oil Operator's Wife Shot.

Pittsburg, June 12.—Mrs. C. F. Hill, wife of a wealthy oil operator, was shot in the side by C. R. Shaum, who was arrested, together with William Dauren and a woman named Emma Horner. The shooting occurred in the Hill residence. Mr. Hill is on a business trip to oil fields in the west.

Auto Racer Fatally Injured.

Omaha, Neb., June 12.—Fred Nygard of Omaha, well-known automobile racer, was fatally injured, and his brother and mechanic, Larry Nygard, badly injured, during the five-mile race at the Omaha automobile races, when his car turned two somersaults.

Auto Owner Killed

Tank Explodes When Trolley Car Hits Machine.

Washington, June 12.—A trolley car on the Great Falls & Old Dominion railroad struck a large touring car containing five men at the Virginia end of Aqueduct bridge which spans the Potomac river at Georgetown. The touring car was overturned and its gasoline tank exploded. Harry W. Mitchell, 36, owner of the car, and Fred Kitchen, a private in Company C, Fifth Cavalry, were pinned under the tonneau of machine. Before help could reach them Mitchell had been burned to death and Kitchen was fatally injured. He died later in a hospital. Walter Hilary of Washington and two other soldiers from Fort Myer were the other passengers in the car. They were thrown a considerable distance and severely injured.

STUDENT-SOLDIERS MEET

Ohio Wesleyan Devotes Day to Civil War Memories.

Delaware, O., June 12.—Today's program at Ohio Wesleyan university included the semi-centennial celebration of "Ohio Wesleyan in the Civil War," a number of the 300 students who went to the front being present. General W. R. Warnock of Urbana made the chief address in connection with this occasion.

John G. Wooley will be the toastmaster of the alumni banquet tomorrow, one of the biggest events of the week, and Wednesday morning Rev. Lewis Valentine Kelley of New York, editor of the Methodist Review, will address the class at the commencement exercises. There are 126 members of the graduating class.

Aviator Breaks His Neck.

Vienna, June 12.—The Luxemburg aviator Weisenbach fell 50 feet at Wiener-Neustadt and broke his neck.

Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane has the distinction of originating "fathers' day." For some years "children's day" and "mothers' day" have been celebrated, but father had been neglected until Mrs. Dodd started the movement in his behalf, which has extended to all parts of America, Canada, Mexico and even Honolulu. The occasion will be observed this year on June 18. Special sermons in father's honor will be preached in churches. It is suggested that a red rose be worn in honor of living fathers and a white one in memory of those who have passed away.

World's Greatest Hobo Visits Washington For A Day And Tells Story

A No. 1, Gentleman Tramp, Who Has Crossed the Continent Forty-
Six Times and Circled the Globe on Three Occasions, Beating His Way
Throughout, Tells His Remarkable Story.

The world's most noted tramp, and one of the most unusual and peculiar characters of the present day, visited this city Saturday night in his endless wanderings, having hoboed his way for 485,329 miles, expending only $7.60 for car fare in that time.

Nearly every one in America has heard of this wonderful individual, who is totally unlike all other tramps and who is known to everyone as "A No. 1", and which name, with an arrow at each side and one underneath, can be found in hundreds of thousands of places all over the world, where he has inscribed it. Many of our readers have seen this same sign or name, inscribed on a water tank, post, building, or box car. A sample of it can be found just over one of the desks in the post-office lobby where he placed it.

"A No. 1" is a dapper little fellow, evidently of French extraction, clean cut features and an open countenance, bright blue eyes, brown hair streaked with gray, and his face possesses considerable attractiveness, although reflecting some of the hardships endured in his 27 years of wandering, is pleasant and honest looking.

When he appeared in this city he wore a $40 suit of clothes and carried a bundle under his arm which contained an overall suit used while riding the bumpers, trucks, or rods, to protect his good clothes. He came into this city from Chillicothe on the 4 o'clock passenger train, riding the blind baggage, and dropped off on South Fayette street. "I've traveled over every road in the land," said he, "but the C. H. & D. is one of the roughest roads I ever struck, and I've struck some pretty rough roads too, I can tell you."

"A No. 1" did not wish his presence to be known here until after he left. When he dropped into the office he produced a thick memorandum book, containing official cards of every railroad in the land, clippings from newspapers throughout the country, a personal letter from Jack London and their photographs taken together, London having at one time been "A No. 1's" companion on the road. In addition to these there were testimonials that he was "O. K." from police chiefs, detectives, railroad officials and men of prominence from coast to coast and from Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes, full page feature stories of his achievements taken from some of the largest daily papers in the country, the stories being accompanied by cuts, some of them being done in color and all showing how he "rides the rods." "A No. 1" went further and showed a copy of a book, an autobiography, which he sells for a living.

This unusual individual has been back and forth across the continent 46 times, and around the world three times. He doesn't chew tobacco, nor smoke, does not touch a drop of liquor, nor use profanity, nor even slang. He is possessed of a good education, which is self-acquired, and it must be stated that it was surprising how well he expressed himself. Last year he committed to memory 8000 new words and the meaning of each. He can write and read fluently in four languages, French, German, Spanish and English.

HOMELESS, FRIENDLESS, NAMELESS.

There is something about the man, aside from the distinction which his remarkable career carries, that is strangely appealing. It is perhaps the humanity of the man or the pathos that lies mutely concealed in his life that makes him so strangely attractive. Endowed with all the qualities necessary for success in life, he is yet homeless, friendless, nameless by an element in his make-up which has gained mastery over all other impulses and motives, the wanderlust. Gripped in its subtle power, impressed by its resistless influence, he is forced to lead a life the barrenness of which he realizes, yet must accept, to roam ceaselessly over the world without a destination in view, to be a nomad of civilization. He knows the yearnings of other men for home, and friends, but the master yearning of all is to move and by this he must be governed.

"A No. 1" has two mottoes which he has followed strictly all his life. The first is "Whoever you are, wherever you may be, whatever you do, try to be a No. 1," and the other is "Never associate with anyone in whose company you would be ashamed to pass in the broad daylight by your parents' home."

SELLS A BOOK.

This man makes his transient living by selling a book, "The Life and Adventure of A No. 1," written by himself. It is an illustrated book and contains some wholesome advice to boys who are not satisfied with their home. He also sells postcards with his picture, records and autograph on them, as souvenirs.

A story is connected with the "how and wherefore" he adopted his peculiar name. When he first started on the road it was with an older man. The latter was attracted by the ingenuousness of the younger companion, by his bright ways, his natural aptitude for a life in box cars and riding the rods beside the grinding wheels beneath the heavy freights, where release for a moment of the bar or iron would have meant instant death.

"Kid, you're all right," declared the older one, at the end of a particularly hard journey. "You're A No. 1." The title has since stuck and the wanderer has more than lived up to it, for if ever hobo's life could be said to be a success, it is that of this fellow. He travels in overalls and jumper, but after arriving in a town, divests himself of these and appears in a neat suit; is always clean shaven and has a very prosperous appearance.

HAS A PROFESSION.

He has a profession, which is carving potatoes, and in this he has no equal. Hundreds of times he has carved faces for persons in return for small favors. He is also a wood carver of ability.

He has a memorandum book full of cards and letters given him by railroad officials. Many of these state that he has prevented the possible loss of human life and property by telling train operators, when beating his way, of broken car wheels or other disarrangements, and he has prevented serious wrecks and disasters. He has been in five wrecks, but, luckily, he has been hurt only once. He is just out of a hospital in Atlanta, where he was laid up for six weeks with an injured leg.

His toilet set is complete, though it takes a little room to carry it. It consists of a toothbrush, soap, comb, and a few other necessities. His carving tools are two knives, kept very sharp. Blacking and shining rags occupy a part of his pockets, also a pocket edition of Webster's Dictionary, a rather strange book for a tramp to carry.

He was asked why he had not written his book sooner, as it is an illustrated and highly interesting story, and he stated that lately, after twenty-seven years of roving, he has come to the conclusion that the dangerous, senseless and pitiful life he has led, all these years, has been wasted, and that perhaps telling his own pitiful experience he might possibly prevent others from following his footsteps. He said that to force a boy to stay at home, after he has once started to wander, is almost impossible, as the maximum, "once a tramp, always a tramp" has been many times proven to him by actual experience, as he has met many a boy of fine family and home who never knew of the filth, misery and dangers a tramp comes constantly in contact with, yet cannot resist the call to wander.

THE CALL TO WANDER.

When asked why he did not stop, he replied: "Do you know that the call to wander is so irresistible that often on dark and rainy nights I find myself walking about railroad yards, looking for a chance to move on? You would not believe me, yet it is a fact, that I realize that my end will be the same as that of 90 per cent. of all tramps—an accident. This is why I have at least provided for a decent burial. In 1894, I received $1,000 cash and this beautiful medal," pointing to a large and attractive badge in silver and gold, which he wore on his vest lapel, "from the Police Gazette, for tramping from New York to San Francisco in eleven days and six hours, and with $750 of this prize I bought a tombstone in a cemetery in Cambridge Springs, Pa. Seems strange that almost every night that silent white monument seems to beckon from yonder green hillside, in my dreams, and entreat me to stop my roving. This I have tried to do many times, but in vain, and my epitaph, which I hope will be a silent, everlasting warning to others who seem to be afflicted with this strange longing to roam, very aptly called wanderlust, is simply:

"A No. 1,

"The Rambler,

"At Rest, at Last."

The last seen of "A No. 1" in this city was near the postoffice, where he removed his hat, made a profound bow, and with genuine regret in his voice, bade adieu to a HERALD reporter, and replacing his hat, started hurriedly down street toward the railroad to resume his endless wanderings.

Axle Gives Way While Speeding

Ralph Cline, one of the less cautious chauffeurs in this city, came very near meeting with a serious accident Saturday afternoon while going at about 40 miles an hour on the creek road one mile south of this city, when the rear axle of his machine snapped, allowing the machine to become entirely unmanageable. Cline brought the big machine to a stop, however, before it plunged over the embankment at the point where the machine broke down. His escape was miraculous.

Broke Her Nose She Wants Divorce

Alleging that her husband, Jerome Price, threatened to kill her, cursed, abused and struck her, breaking her nose, Mrs. Minnie Price has brought action in the Probate Court for divorce and custody of three minor children.

Mrs. Price in her petition states that she was married to Jerome Price on October 25, 1896, and that three children were born to them. She alleges that her husband has been guilty of gross neglect and extreme cruelty, and that upon one occasion he struck her a violent blow in the face, breaking her nose. She also alleges that he has been guilty of statutory offenses, said to have taken place on May 30, 1911, in the city of Dayton.

Mrs. Price asks that she be awarded a divorce, custody of the children, and all other relief deemed just.

PLACED UNDER ARREST
FOR INTOXICATION.

Howard Bales, who seems to have little or no particular occupation, was placed under arrest Sunday night charged with being intoxicated. The officers claim Bales was very noisy and made dire threats of what would happen when he was released because they saw fit to lock him up after he had absorbed too much "fly bait."

Bales was allowed to remain in the county jail, and at the time this was written, had not been arraigned.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Mr. J. S. Fisher, south of town, had a narrow escape from death while attending the State Sunday School convention in Dayton.

He was returning from an evening session to his lodging and as he stepped off the car it started, throwing him with terrible force on the pavement. The back of his head received the blow as he fell, knocking him senseless.

Fortunately friends were on the car and carried word to his wife, who had remained at the house.

Mr. Fisher was taken to the boarding house on a stretcher and medical attention secured.

No serious injury was sustained, yet Mr. Fisher's escape with severe bruises and jarring is thought to be almost miraculous. He is now at home.

PERSINGER-DARLING WEDDING.

Among recent nuptial events few have elicited more interest than the marriage of Mr. Charles Persinger and Mrs. Lyde Darling, at the home of Mrs. Darling's daughter, Mrs. E. A. Ellies at five o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The bridegroom is one of Fayette county's wealthiest and most prominent land owners, and the bride a fine woman who has many friends here, although her family connections are largely in the southern part of the state. Campbell, of the Presbyterian church.

After the serving of the wedding luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Persinger left for a stay at Maple Grove before returning to his farm residence near Johnson's Crossing.

Girl Sheriff's Office Title Is Questioned

Union county, Ohio, is technically shy a deputy sheriff. Miss Nellie Price, 22, Ohio Wesleyan university graduate and daughter of the sheriff held the job three months since the former incumbent resigned. She has drawn $60 per month, been on the job steady and has figured in no sensational captures simply because the county has been very quiet. Everything was running smoothly until Prosecutor John Willis put sand in the machinery by declaring that Miss Price would have to return the money already drawn as salary and quit the job as she was not a "qualified elector."

The County Commissioners say they never had a more efficient officer and may fight to retain the girl in office.

World's Greatest Hobo Visits Washington For A Day And Tells Story

A No. 1, Gentleman Tramp, Who Has Crossed the Continent Forty- Six Times and Circled the Globe on Three Occasions, Beating His Way Throughout, Tells His Remarkable Story.

The world's most noted tramp, and one of the most unusual and peculiar characters of the present day, visited this city Saturday night in his endless wanderings, having hoboed his way for 485,329 miles, expending only $7.60 for car fare in that time.

Nearly every one in America has heard of this wonderful individual, who is totally unlike all other tramps and who is known to everyone as "A No. 1," and which name, with an arrow at each side and one underneath, can be found in hundreds of thousands of places all over the world, where he has inscribed it. Many of our readers have seen this same sign or name, inscribed on a water tank, post, building, or box car. A sample of it can be found just over one of the desks in the post-office lobby where he placed it.

"A No. 1" is a dapper little fellow, evidently of French extraction, clean cut features and an open countenance, bright blue eyes, brown hair streaked with gray, and his face possesses considerable attractiveness, although reflecting some of the hardships endured in his 27 years of wandering, is pleasant and honest looking.

When he appeared in this city he wore a $40 suit of clothes and carried a bundle under his arm which contained an overall suit used while riding the bumpers, trucks, or rods, to protect his good clothes. He came into this city from Chillicothe on the 4 o'clock passenger train, riding the blind baggage, and dropped off on South Fayette street. "I've traveled over every road in the land," said he, "but the C. H. & D. is one of the roughest roads I ever struck, and I've struck some pretty rough roads too, I can tell you."

"A No. 1" did not wish his presence to be known here until after he left. When he dropped into the office he produced a thick memorandum book, containing official cards of every railroad in the land; clippings from newspapers throughout the country, a personal letter from Jack London and their photographs taken together, London having at one time been "A No. 1's" companion on the road. In addition to these there were testimonials that he was "O. K." from police chiefs, detectives, railroad officials and men of prominence from coast to coast and from Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes, full page feature stories of his achievements taken from some of the largest daily papers in the country, the stories being accompanied by cuts, some of them being done in color and all showing how he "rides the rods." "A No. 1" went further and showed a copy of a book, an autobiography, which he sells for a living.

This unusual individual has been back and forth across the continent 46 times, and around the world three times. He doesn't chew tobacco, nor smoke, does not touch a drop of liquor, nor use profanity, nor even slang. He is possessed of a good education, which is self-acquired, and it must be stated that it was surprising how well he expressed himself. Last year he committed to memory 8000 new words and the meaning of each. He can write and read fluently in four languages, French, German, Spanish and English.

HOMELESS, FRIENDLESS, NAMELESS.

There is something about the man, aside from the distinction which his remarkable career carries, that is strangely appealing. It is perhaps the humanity of the man or the pathos that lies mutedly concealed in his life that makes him so strangely attractive. Endowed with all the qualities necessary for success in life, he is yet homeless, friendless, nameless by an element in his makeup which has gained mastery over all other impulses and motives, the wanderlust. Grippled in its subtle power, impressed by its resistless influence, he is forced to lead a life the barrenness of which he realizes, yet must accept, to roam ceaselessly over the world without a destination in view, to be a nomad of civilization. He knows the yearnings of other men for home, and friends, but the master yearning of all is to move and by this he must be governed.

"A No. 1" has two mottoes which he has followed strictly all his life. The first is "Whoever you are, wherever you may be, whatever you do, try to be a No. 1," and the other is "Never associate with anyone in whose company you would be ashamed to pass in the broad daylight by your parents' home."

SELLS A BOOK.

This man makes his transient living by selling a book, "The Life and Adventure of A No. 1," written by himself. It is an illustrated book and contains some wholesome advice to boys who are not satisfied with their home. He also sells postcards with his picture, records and autograph on them, as souvenirs.

A story is connected with the "how and wherefore" he adopted his peculiar name. When he first started on the road it was with an older man. The latter was attracted by the ingenuousness of the younger companion, by his bright ways, his natural aptitude for a life in box cars and riding the rods beside the grinding wheels beneath the heavy freights, where release for a moment of the bar or iron would have meant instant death.

"Kid, you're all right," declared the older one at the end of a particularly hard journey. "You're A No. 1." The title has since stuck and the wanderer has more than lived up to it, for if ever hobo's life could be said to be a success, it is that of this fellow. He travels in overalls and jumper, but after arriving in a town, divests himself of these and appears in a neat suit; is always clean shaven and has a very prosperous appearance.

HAS A PROFESSION.

He has a profession, which is carving potatoes, and in this he has no equal. Hundreds of times he has carved faces for persons in return for small favors. He is also a wood carver of ability.

He has a memorandum book full of cards and letters given him by railroad officials. Many of these state that he has prevented the possible loss of human life and property by telling train operators, when beating his way, of broken car wheels or other derangements, and he has prevented serious wrecks and disasters. He has been in five wrecks, but, luckily, he has been hurt only once. He is just out of a hospital in Atlanta, where he was laid up for six weeks with an injured leg.

His toilet set is complete, though it takes a little room to carry it. It consists of a toothbrush, soap, comb, and a few other necessities. His carving tools are two knives, kept very sharp. Blacking and shining rags occupy a part of his pockets, also a pocket edition of Webster's Dictionary, a rather strange book for a tramp to carry.

He was asked why he had not written his book sooner, as it is an illustrated and highly interesting story, and he stated that lately, after twenty-seven years of roving, he has come to the conclusion that the dangerous, senseless and pitiful life he has led, all these years, has been wasted, and that perhaps telling his own pitiful experience he might possibly prevent others from following his footsteps. He said that to force a boy to stay at home, after he has once started to wander, is almost impossible, as the maximum, "once a tramp, always a tramp" has been many times proven to him by actual experience, as he has met many a boy of fine family and home who never knew of the filth, misery and dangers a tramp comes constantly in contact with, yet cannot resist the call to wander.

THE CALL TO WANDER.

When asked why he did not stop, he replied: "Do you know that the call to wander is so irresistible that often on dark and rainy nights I find myself walking about railroad yards, looking for a chance to move on? You would not believe me, yet it is a fact, that I realize that my end will be the same as that of 90 per cent. of all tramps—an accident. This is why I have at least provided for a decent burial. In 1894, I received $1,000 cash and this beautiful medal," pointing to a large and attractive badge in silver and gold, which he wore on his vest lapel, "from the Police Gazette, for tramping from New York to San Francisco in eleven days and six hours, and with $750 of this prize I bought a tombstone in a cemetery in Cambridge Springs, Pa. Seems strange that almost every night that silent white monument seems to beckon from yonder green hillside, in my dreams, and entreat me to stop my roving. This I have tried to do many times, but in vain, and my epitaph, which I hope will be a silent, everlasting warning to others who seem to be afflicted with this strange longing to roam, very aptly called wanderlust, is simply:

"The Rambler."

"At Rest, at Last."

The last seen of "A No. 1" in this city was near the postoffice, where he removed his hat, made a profound bow, and with genuine regret in his voice, bade adieu to a HERALD reporter, and replacing his hat, started hurriedly down street toward the railroad to resume his endless wanderings.

Beautiful Services at St. Colman's

Beautifully impressive were the first communion services conducted by Rev. Father Fogarty at St. Colman's church Sunday morning at half past seven o'clock. There was a very large concourse assembled to witness the vows taken by the class of young communicants, twenty-three boys and girls, ranging from seven to fourteen years of age.

The girls were all in white, with white veils, and carried white prayer books and rosaries, the boys were in black, carrying black rosaries. As the children grouped themselves in front of the altars, blazing with electric lights and beautifully decorated in roses and carnations, and the music of the special mass pealed from the choir balcony, the scene was one of memorable impressiveness.

The children's choir gave added effect in its rendition of the hymns and Rev. Fogarty addressed to the children a few eloquent words in regard to the importance of the step they were taking.

For the three days preceding the first communion, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the children were in retreat and instructed by Father Fogarty in preparatory exercises.

At half-past two o'clock Sunday afternoon the children were enrolled in the register and made the renewal of their baptismal vows.

Woman's World

A Little English Girl Whom Every One Must Address as Ma'am.

PRINCESS MARY OF ENGLAND.

To be a king's daughter is all very well in a fairy tale, but most kings' daughters have far from an easy life. There is the little fourteen-year-old daughter of the king and queen of England. She has lessons that would shame many an American college girl, for a princess' education ends at seventeen or eighteen, and there are many things which she must learn that ordinary girls are not troubled with.

For instance, she must be proficient in several languages and have a good working knowledge of the history of different nations, particularly their modern history. She must be something of an artist and musician, and if her mother is a person of housewifely tastes, as is Princess Mary's mother, then her spare moments are filled up with instructions in regard to cooking, baking, housekeeping and sewing.

When the little princess goes to visit her grandma, Queen Alexandra, that royal lady initiates her into the art of dairying, which to the daughter of a king of Denmark is a very important matter. Then her father insists that his daughter must not neglect her horseback exercise or other outdoor sports, in which nowadays all smart young Englishwomen excel.

It will be seen that the little English princess has no life of leisure. The only girl in a family of four boys, all of them lively and fond of fun, it may be judged that the princess has no chance to become self-conscious or vain.

One of the latest court rules is that every one not of royal rank must address the little girl as "ma'am," and it is funny to Americans to see gray haired dowagers courtesying to the seventeen-year-old Prince of Wales and gravely answering his little sister with prim "Yes, ma'am" and "No, ma'am."

CHOOSING WALL PAPER.

Its Light Reflecting Qualities Should Be Considered.

No paper reflects all the light which falls on it, but the brightest of all papers would be white blotting paper, if that were allowable on the walls. White blotting paper reflects four-fifths of the light. The remaining fifth it absorbs and renders useless. Ordinary foolscap is less bright, swallowing three-fourths and reflecting only seven-tenths.

Taking these as the brightest possible papers, we can see how a room may be treated so as to be cheerfully luminous or as gloomy as a prison. The range is so great that we can make the walls of one room fourteen to sixteen times darker than another, although the same amount of light enters both.

The brightest wall paper is the white figured, while white and gold is almost as effective in throwing back the light falling on it.

It may be taken as reflecting nearly seven-tenths. Next comes chrome yellow paper, which reflects six-tenths, and this is followed closely by orange paper, reflecting five-tenths of the light.

Yellow wall paper and yellow painted walls give back only four-tenths of the light; they swallow up more than they reflect, and light-pink paper is just a trifle less bright.

Light blue paper is rather deceitful. Contrary to what one would expect, it absorbs three-fourths of the light.

BUYING RIBBON.

How to Know What Width to Ask the Saleswoman For.

Very few women have escaped the annoyance of trying unsuccessfully to buy ribbon of a particular width. When one considers the question it is quite natural that manufacturers should turn it out in certain staple widths, but the difficulty is that very few of us know just what these widths are. When ribbons are used as much as this summer our troubles are multiplied.

Here are the numbers and their corresponding widths. Cut this out and keep it for reference next time you need ribbon approximately a certain width:

No. 1 (baby), 3-16 inch; No. 1 1/2, 5-16 inch; No. 2, 3/8 inch; No. 3, 1/2 inch; No. 5, 15-16 inch; No. 7, 13-16 inch; No. 9, 1 1/8 inch; No. 12, 1 1/4 inch; No. 16, 1 3/8 inch; No. 40, 3 1/2 inch; No. 60, 4 inches.

There are other intermediate widths, of course, but these are the most usual.

FLOWER MISSION DAY.

The birthday of Jennie Casseday, founder of the Flower Mission Movement, was fittingly observed June 9 by the W. C. T. U. of Fayette county, by their annual visit to the Infirmary and Children's Home. The day was an ideal one and the visitors from all parts of the county came pouring in, so that when the Children's Home was reached, the crowd numbered more than one hundred and fifty.

At the Infirmary we were most heartily welcomed by Supt. and Mrs. Casey, and the Infirmary Board, and every attention was shown which could make our stay pleasant.

But the most enjoyable feature of the day was the picnic dinner, served on the beautiful lawn to the inmates by the visitors. This dinner has been a part of the program for the past few years, and it seems to be gaining in popularity, as the crowd increases each year. The inmates were seated at one long table, and the visitors at another, and as some one said, "A happier crowd, one could not wish to see." At the close of the meal the inmates were given flowers, fruit and cards.

Near 2 o'clock we took our way "through the fields of clover," to the Children's Home, where another royal welcome awaited us from Supt. and Mrs. Tway and their "family" of boys and girls.

Mr. Tway remarked that the children look forward to Flower Mission Day, as another Christmas. A program of recitations and music was given in the open air, in front of the girls' dormitory, after which cards, fruit and flowers were distributed to the children.

Mr. Tway made the statement that when they took charge of the home there were forty-six children there, while now there are but twenty-three. He attributes the decrease to the fact that in that time the county has voted dry.

Could Jennie Casseday come back to earth for one birthday, and witness the cheer which is given out all over our land by kindly deeds, she would realize that all her years of suffering were not in vain, and that her influence lives on.

ENTERING PORT ARTHUR.

It Is Something Akin to Sailing Through a Picture Frame.

Getting into the harbor of Port Arthur is something like an Alice in Wonderland trick. One sails through a picture frame—the rocky bluffs at the mouth, barely wide enough for a stout ship to squeeze through without being—wondering now there can be room for a ship to anchor between the frame and the picture itself, a small hamlet somewhat Swiss or Norwegian in homelikeness. But once behind the frame the wonderland unfolds. The small town of water becomes a lake-like bay, delightfully protected behind sheltering cliffs. The little hamlet reaches out into two big towns, one on either side.

The old town to the east contains the older Russian buildings, barracks, storehouses and the like. Here also now are the small Japanese shops and the poorer classes of Japanese dwellings, semi-Japanese in construction, with the ramshackle Chinese quarter on the outskirts.

The new town to the west is an open, modern European or American residence section, built largely by the Russians in the early days, imposing government buildings erected by the Japanese, a hospital, a shady park and a well run modern hotel.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Beautiful Services at St. Colman's

Beautifully impressive were the first communion services conducted by Rev. Father Fogarty at St. Colman's church Sunday morning at half past seven o'clock. There was a very large concourse assembled to witness the vows taken by the class of young communicants, twenty-three boys and girls, ranging from seven to fourteen years of age.

The girls were all in white, with white veils, and carried white prayer books and rosaries, the boys were in black, carrying black rosaries. As the children grouped themselves in front of the altars, blazing with electric lights and beautifully decorated in roses and carnations, and the music of the special mass pealed from the choir balcony, the scene was one of memorable impressiveness.

The children's choir gave added effect in its rendition of the hymns and Rev. Fogarty addressed to the children a few eloquent words in regard to the importance of the step they were taking.

For the three days preceding the first communion, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the children were in retreat and instructed by Father Fogarty in preparatory exercises.

At half-past two o'clock Sunday afternoon the children were enrolled in the capular and made the renewal of their baptismal vows.

THE OPEN AIR PREVENTIVE.

The following editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association for June 10th is highly interesting and instructive to those who aim for a higher manhood and womanhood, both physical and moral, because the latter depends on the former. Healthy men and women make moral men and women. The Journal says:

"The value of public parks and playgrounds to the great mass of city dwellers is now generally recognized, but in the rapid growth of our cities timely provision for parks is usually overlooked until business and material interests have so much encroached on the available spaces that their conversion into parks is so expensive as to be almost prohibitory. As a consequence, these lungs of the cities are, too often, utterly inadequate. While it is true that the health of the workers in a city is one of its most valuable assets from a purely material point of view, as conducing to efficiency and increased output, yet it is a matter of slow and difficult progress to bring the business portion of the community to realize the direct importance of a matter, which, at first sight, seems to affect them so remotely. The movement for parks and playgrounds belongs to preventive medicine, in the modern conception of that subject. It is, therefore, the opportunity and the duty of the physician, as a public-spirited citizen, to exercise foresight in this matter, and to use his influence in securing adequate parks, playgrounds and breathing-spaces for the people. Physicians have not been entirely remiss in this matter; on the contrary, in many places they have been the leaders in this work, as they should be everywhere. Many American cities have realized the value of parks and playgrounds and have spent large sums of money in providing them. Some are splendidly equipped in this respect; so much so that in the recent meetings in Europe, concerning the town-planning and city beautification movement, some of our cities were cited as models to be imitated by the older urban centers of Europe. Berlin is one of these cities that has recently taken up the matter of providing a system of forest reserves or parks just outside the city, as well as several within the city limits, to give greater opportunity to the people for outdoor air, exercise and recreation—a receptaculum oxygenii, as they have been termed. The chairman of a committee having in charge this park promotion enterprise in Berlin recommends that the physicians, with the architects, should be the leading spirits in the hygiene of the masses, and says that it is a matter of reproach that millions are spent on sanatoriums for the treatment of tuberculosis, while no adequate provision is made for giving the masses the air and light and opportunity for recreation which would largely help to prevent the condition which these sanatoriums try to cure at such great expense."

TOO MUCH OF NOTHING.

No good citizen of Ohio desires that any man guilty of a breach of public trust should escape the full measure of punishment which his offense warrants. While this is true there is no denying the fact that the present "bribe probe" which has been inserted with the announced purpose of punishing crookedness among the members of the last General Assembly of Ohio, bids fair to result in a roaring farce and an expensive fiasco.

The Grand Jury of Franklin county has been probing for weeks and has contributed periodically during that time, "batches" of indictments.

The one trial so far had under these indictments has resulted in a full and complete acquittal of the accused.

The people are each day growing to regard the matter as a sensational muck raking operation with something back of it aside from a desire to mete out justice and punishment to wrong-doers. They refuse to enthuse over the scare headlines announcing that another bunch of indictments have been returned.

The good people of Ohio have no sympathy with criminals especially that class of mean criminals who have been false to public trust and neither have they any patience with grandstanding. They are fair minded and refuse to take kindly to an effort to besmirch the character of any man.

The parade of the results of the exparte proceedings before the Grand Jury has lost its charm for fairminded people who are now ready to be presented with the real thing and less froth—a conviction or two if the facts warrant it and fewer indictments.

At best the knowledge that legislators have been guilty of wrong-doing is bitter medicine for the people of Ohio to take and if take it they must, they want as little of it as possible and to have it over, with as little delay as the law will permit.

They do not receive with glad acclaim the charges against legislators, but they would willingly insist that one guilty of wrong doing be punished.

Indiscriminate and wholesale accusations against public officials upon evidence which fails to stand the test on open trial is not making a "hit" with the people.

Far better that one guilty man should be tried, convicted and punished than that a dozen or more men, suspected without real, substantial cause should be indicted.

No one could or would desire to excuse a legislator guilty of taking or soliciting a bribe, but it strikes the average run of Ohio people that there is too much sameness about this probe business and that sameness is—Nothing.

POETRY FOR TODAY

THE VILLAGE FROG.

Under the lily pads and things
The big old bullfrog squats;
His greenish hide is thick, b'jings,
With warts, and lumps and knots.
And when he swells himself and sings
His voice is rough in spots.

His thighs are thick, and big, and strong;
Yet he enjoys his ease;
And when the echoes of his song
Are borne upon the breeze,
His normal slope unless I'm wrong,
Is forty-five degrees.

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
You can hear his bellows blow;
You can hear him sound his gong, all right,
With measured beat and slow,
Like a bruiser spoiling for a fight
When there isn't any foe.

On Sundays come the village boys,
With fishing poles, red rags,
And sticks, and stones; and then his voice
Mysteriously lags.
He hides himself—he has no choice—
Down deep amid the flags.

Squatting, hiding, bellowing,
Onward through life he goes;
He eats a little, tries to sing,
And warbles through his nose,
He doesn't have to do a thing
To earn a night's repose.

Thanks, thanks to thee, my warty friend,
For the lesson thou hast taught!
Thus, in the great frogpond of life,
Our fortunes must be wrought;
There's nothing else on earth to do
But keep from getting caught!"

An Old Time Champion.

Robert Barclay Allardice, a Scotch captain in the British army, who was born in 1779 and died in 1854, was a noted pedestrian. At the age of fifteen he walked six miles within an hour. When he was twenty he covered 150 miles on foot in two days, and in June 1801, in excessively hot weather he walked 300 miles in five days. His most surprising performance was walking 1,000 miles in 1,000 successive hours. A half million dollars was staked on the result.

Killing a Fashion.

The muff reached its highest point in the reign of Louis XV. Then fashion declared for a cloth muff instead of fur, and the furriers made a great uproar. Finally some ingenious merchant bribed the headman to carry a cloth muff on execution day. The women shrank from such association, and the fur won the day.

Giving Him Encouragement.

"I am going to ask your father for your hand."
"Oh, that will be lovely!"
"You are glad?"
"Delighted! I will call and bring you flowers every day until you are able to be out again. I have never seen the inside of a hospital!"—Houston Post.

THE OPEN AIR PREVENTIVE.

The following editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association for June 10th is highly interesting and instructive to those who aim for a higher manhood and womanhood, both physical and moral, because the latter depends on the former. Healthy men and women make moral men and women. The Journal says:

"The value of public parks and playgrounds to the great mass of city dwellers is now generally recognized, but in the rapid growth of our cities timely provision for parks is usually overlooked until business and material interests have so much encroached on the available spaces that their conversion into parks is so expensive as to be almost prohibitory. As a consequence, these lungs of the cities are, too often, utterly inadequate. While it is true that the health of the workers in a city is one of its most valuable assets from a purely material point of view, as conducing to efficiency and increased output, yet it is a matter of slow and difficult progress to bring the business portion of the community to realize the direct importance of a matter, which, at first sight, seems to affect them so remotely. The movement for parks and playgrounds belongs to preventive medicine, in the modern conception of that subject. It is, therefore, the opportunity and the duty of the physician, as a public-spirited citizen, to exercise foresight in this matter, and to use his influence in securing adequate parks, playgrounds and breathing-spaces for the people. Physicians have not been entirely remiss in this matter; on the contrary, in many places they have been the leaders in this work, as they should be everywhere. Many American cities have realized the value of parks and playgrounds and have spent large sums of money in providing them. Some are splendidly equipped in this respect; so much so that in the recent meetings in Europe, concerning the town-planning and city beautification movement, some of our cities were cited as models to be imitated by the older urban centers of Europe. Berlin is one of these cities that has recently taken up the matter of providing a system of forest reserves or parks just outside the city, as well as several within the city limits, to give greater opportunity to the people for outdoor air, exercise and recreation—a receptaculum oxygenii, as they have been termed. The chairman of a committee having in charge this park promotion enterprise in Berlin recommends that the physicians, with the architects, should be the leading spirits in the hygiene of the masses, and says that it is a matter of reproach that millions are spent on sanatoriums for the treatment of tuberculosis, while no adequate provision is made for giving the masses the air and light and opportunity for recreation which would largely help to prevent the condition which these sanatoriums try to cure at such great expense."

195.—Why are the Jews so persecuted? Is it because of their racial peculiarities only?

Answer.—We wish that we could truthfully say that the Jews are persecuted for righteousness sake; but we must concede that their persecution is considerably because of their racial peculiarities. For instance, in Russia there is always more or less Jewish persecution in progress. The reason is that the Jews are feared by their neighbors, as being more crafty, more persevering, more energetic, more intelligent, more successful, more economical, more temperate. Some of them, backed by financial opportunity, are similarly aggressive in mercantile and banking business and hold mortgages on the properties of their neighbors, drawing from these exorbitant interest charges. The Russian realizing himself unable to cope with the Jew, and deeply indebted to him, hates him and would be pleased to see his financial enslaver meet with disaster. The bitterness extends to the poor as well as to the rich, because they are of the same race and are similarly aggressive and successful in proportion to opportunity. As illustrating the matter we quote a narrative offered us by a Hebrew. New York City contains a large Jewish population, many of them successful business men. One of these met his Jewish friend who had just arrived from Europe. He showed him along Broadway, many fine business establishments. The new comer remarked that many of the names were Jewish. The resident replied that such was the case. Next came the inquiry, "Where are the Americans?" The answer was, "They are down in the cellars packing boxes."

Two Boys of 16 Meet in Deadly Combat

BOTH AGREE TO FIGHT IT OUT

James Smith, 16. While Attempt Is Being Made to Arrange Rules of Battle, Rushes Like Mad Bull at Opponent. Who Lands Several Severe Jolts on Head—Victor Remains on Field Until Detectives Arrive to Arrest Him.

New York, June 12.—While he was fighting with a boy of his own age in an empty lot, 16-year-old James Smith was almost instantly killed.

His opponent, Frank Burke, struck him squarely under the chin with his bare knuckles, and the boy was dead before aid could be rendered. Smith and Burke were playing "cat" with some friends in what the boys of the neighborhood call the "farm." There had been trouble between Smith and Burke before, and after a long wrangle Smith made Burke so angry that he suggested that the feud be settled in an empty lot where they could fight unmolested. They went there, each contestant followed by his admirers, and then came a squabble as to what rules the fight should be under. In the midst of the row Smith tore off his coat and made for Burke in the oldest fashion in the world, with his arms swinging and his head down. One of his fingers gouged Burke's eye and the Celtic spirit of the latter was roused.

He commenced to hit Smith heavily about the chin and head and at an advantageous moment swung back his arm and let Smith have it in the chin with all the force his young muscles could command. Smith went to his knees and then fell back on his face dead. Burke was game. He didn't run, but let the detectives arrest him.

Hung Jury In Donnelly Case Does Not Discourage Prosecutor.

Toledo, O., June 12.—The jury which tried the case of Judge Michael Donnelly, former president of the Ohio-German Fire Insurance company, charged with embezzling $975,000 representing interest money of the company, after being out 29 hours reported to Judge Chittenden that it was unable to agree and was discharged. Prosecutor Webster, following the report of the jury that it was unable to agree, said that Judge Donnelly would be tried again on the same charge, probably at the September term of court.

Gang Leader Shot Down By Officer

Death Follows Raid on Cleveland Pleasure Park.

Cleveland, O., June 12.—Several hours after being shot by a special policeman at Mans Springs Stanley Park, 19, died at a local hospital. After an investigation of the case by Marshal A. Eddel of Newburg Heights, Charles Brown was relieved of all blame for the affair, the marginal finding that Brown shot in self-defense. According to the investigation the gang that started the trouble went to the park to create a disturbance, and during the excitement to rob the concessions. The gang first made an attack on the ticket sellers' booth and wrecked it, but was foiled in its attempt to get at the money by a boy who fled with the cash box and turned it over to the management.

When Brown attempted to restore order the ringleaders of the mob knocked him down, took his club from him and were beating him when he drew his revolver and fired. During the riot that followed the shooting members of the mob broke into the management's office in the dancing pavilion and stole about $300.

DEATH TOLL REACHES THREE

Two Bodies Washed Ashore at Gravesend Bay and Man Is Killed by Jock's Thunderbolt at Jersey City—Crowd of 25,000 Stampeded When Circus Tents Blow Over and Six Women Are Trampled Under Feet of Crows.

New York, June 12.—Three lives were lost and property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars was destroyed in the combined wind and rainstorm that swept over the territory adjacent to this city.

Two bodies were washed ashore at Gravesend bay. The third death took place in Jersey City, where David Clark was electrocuted by the fall of a live wire.

At Coney Island tents and shacks erected on the site of the recent fire were blown down and some whirled out to sea.

At Paterson N. J. 200 big trees were uprooted, carrying down with them electric light and trolley wires, leaving the city without light or car service for several hours.

Losses aggregating more than $100,000 were caused by fires set by lightning. It is estimated that $50,000 damage was done at Flushing, L. I., where 25,000 men and women were within a big inclosure witnessing a society circus. Twelve large tents were leveled by the wind and in the stampede which followed six women were trampled and taken to the hospital.

Governor Gray Wins

Latoria Derby Is Run In Presence of Record Crowd.

Cincinnati, O., June 12.—Cheered by 15,000 people, the largest crowd that has ever packed the stand and lawn at Latoria race track, Governor Gray, the favorite, won the twenty-ninth running of the historic Latoria Derby, and in so doing not only clipped two full seconds from the track record for one mile and a half, but came within three-hundredths of a second of equalling the American record for the distance.

Despite the fact that the victory was an easy one and far from exciting, the winner passed the wire amidst tremendous applause. Star Charter was second, four lengths behind Governor Gray, while Messenger Boy, "the dark horse of the event," rewarded his backers by securing third money, two lengths behind Star Charter. The time was 2:30 2/5.

Two Boys of 16 Meet in Deadly Combat

Unexpected Ending of a Proposed Fight To Settle An Inconsequential Fued.

BOTH AGREE TO FIGHT IT OUT

James Smith, 16, While Attempt Is Being Made to Arrange Rules of Battle, Rushes Like Mad Bull at Opponent, Who Lands Several Severe Jolts on Head—Victor Remains on Field Until Detectives Arrive to Arrest Him.

New York, June 12.—While he was fighting with a boy of his own age in an empty lot, 16-year-old James Smith was almost instantly killed.

His opponent, Frank Burke, struck him squarely under the chin with his bare knuckles, and the boy was dead before aid could be rendered. Smith and Burke were playing "cat" with some friends in what the boys of the neighborhood call the "farm." There had been trouble between Smith and Burke before, and after a long wrangle Smith made Burke so angry that he suggested that the feud be settled in an empty lot where they could fight unmolested. They went there, each contestant followed by his admirers, and then came a squabble as to what rules the fight should be under. In the midst of the row Smith tore off his coat and made for Burke in the oldest fashion in the world, with his arms swinging and his head down. One of his fingers gouged Burke's eye and the Celtic spirit of the latter was roused.

He commenced to hit Smith heavily about the chin and head and at an advantageous moment swung back his arm and let Smith have it in the chin with all the force his young muscles could command. Smith went to his knees and then fell back on his face dead. Burke was game. He didn't run, but let the detectives arrest him.

Gang Leader Shot Down By Officer

Death Follows Raid on Cleveland Pleasure Park.

Cleveland, O., June 12.—Several hours after being shot by a special policeman at Dennis Springs, Stanley Park, 19, died at a local hospital. After an investigation of the case by Marshal A. Eddel of Newburg Heights, Charles Brown was relieved of all blame for the affair, the marshal finding that Brown shot in self defense. According to the investigation the gang that started the trouble went to the park to create a disturbance, and during the excitement to rob the concessions. The gang first made an attack on the ticket seller's booth and wrecked it but was foiled in its attempt to get at the money by a boy who fled with the cash box and turned it over to the management.

When Brown attempted to restore order the ringleaders of the mob knocked him down, took his club from him and were beating him when he drew his revolver and fired. During the riot that followed the shooting members of the mob broke into the management's office in the dancing pavilion and stole about $200.

DEATH TOLL REACHES THREE

Two Bodies Washed Ashore at Gravesend Bay and Man Is Killed by Joyce's Thunderbolt at Jersey City—Crowd of 25,000 Stampeded When Circus Tents Blow Over and Six Women Are Trampled Under Feet of Crows.

New York, June 12.—Three lives were lost and property valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars was destroyed in the combined wind and rainstorm that swept over the territory adjacent to this city.

Two bodies were washed ashore at Gravesend bay. The third death took place in Jersey City, where David Clark was electrocuted by the fall of a live wire.

At Coney Island tents and shacks erected on the site of the recent fire were blown down and some whirled out to sea.

At Paterson, N. J., 200 big trees were uprooted, carrying down with them electric light and trolley wires, leaving the city without light or car service for several hours.

Losses aggregating more than $100,000 were caused by fires set by lightning. It is estimated that $50,000 damage was done at Flushing, L. I., where 25,000 men and women were within a big inclosure witnessing a society circus. Twelve large tents were leveled by the wind and in the stampede which followed six women were trampled and taken to the hospital.

Latoria Derby Is Run In Presence of Record Crowd.

Cincinnati, O., June 12.—Cheered by 15,000 people, the largest crowd that has ever packed the stand and lawn at Latoria race track, Governor Gray, the favorite, won the twenty-ninth running of the historic Latoria Derby, and in so doing not only clipped two full seconds from the track record for one mile and a half, but came within three-hundredths of a second of equalling the American record for the distance.

Despite the fact that the victory was an easy one and far from exciting the winner passed the wire amidst tremendous applause. Star Charter was second, four lengths behind Governor Gray, while Messenger Boy, "the dark horse of the event," rewarded his backers by securing third money, two lengths behind Star Charter. The time was 2:30 2-5.

THE FIFTEENTH ANNUAL DAHL-MILLIKAN EXCURSION EXCELS FORMER EVENTS

With a past record positively unequalled in the annals of complimentary trips to patrons, the Dahl-Millikan branch of the Midland Grocery Co., of Ohio, have arranged their fifteenth annual outing for July 10th and 17th, 1911, on a schedule that will eclipse all former efforts and give added prestige to this mammoth firm.

Last year the patrons of the Dahl-Millikan branch were promised a surprise in this outing. The promise is richly fulfilled by the company in the completion of its plans to make the wonderful Thousand Islands trip, the most picturesque river archipelago in the world, and crowning the grandest scenic waters of America.

It is a stupendous undertaking to promote and carry to a successful completion an outing of such magnitude with such an immense number of people as are booked for this outing, but the management of the Dahl-Millikan Co. is quite equal to it and the arrangements are made on such an elaborate scale and so perfected that the trip will be a notable event even to the widely traveled.

A member of the firm will personally conduct the outing as heretofore and will be assisted by a corps of salesmen.

The first outing starts by special train from Washington C. H. at 9:30 Monday morning July 10, and the second at the same hour and place July the 17th, with Mr. L. W. Buckmaster, of the Hocking Valley railroad giving his personal attention to all railroad arrangements.

Outings start from both Jackson and Wilmington.

According to established custom the best of everything has been engaged and those fortunate enough to be guests on the outing will have nothing to do but enjoy the pleasures provided for them, realizing that accommodations will be procured for them and attention secured by the influence of this company beyond anything that a private trip would insure.

The trip will be made by boat from Detroit to Buffalo and the evening dinner, music and dancing on the steamer will be the beginning of the delightful vacation week.

At Buffalo the party takes a special New York Central train for Clayton, N. Y., lunching at Syracuse, N. Y., and at Clayton the Thousand Island steamer for Alexandria Bay.

The entire party will be entertained at the noted Thousand Island hotel and the interest and pleasure of this famed Thousand Island region, with its crystal river and gems of nature, are beyond description.

Among the special attractions planned are a fifty mile ramble on the Observation Steamer through the Thousand Island region and an electric search light excursion on the steamer St. Lawrence. This luxurious steamer makes a marvelous tour of the most beautiful of the American and wildest of Canadian islands, her great electric searchlight illuminating them as in the full light of the noonday sun.

Returning, a night and day will be spent at picturesque Niagara, with special sight-seeing provisions.

Saturday night brings back a party that will certainly have had a royal week.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Virtue of Vegetables.

Many vegetables play a useful part in helping us to solve our food problems. Cabbage, for example, is one of the best vegetables that can be selected for this purpose. Then we have onions, celery, radishes, carrots, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes and— one of the most important of all—horseradish. Among the herbs sorrel and rhubarb are perhaps the most useful. No food in the spring is better than rhubarb, while sorrel should be eaten every day, either in combination with other vegetables and herbs as a salad or as one of the herbs that are used to flavor the soup. To secure the best effect from the acid combining foods most of them should be eaten raw, or at least they should be cooked as slightly as possible. Too much cooking destroys the organic mineral salts, without which these foods would fail to accomplish their purpose. That is why we crave such things as raw celery and radishes. Those who have tried raw cabbage and raw onions sliced and served as a salad seldom go for a very long time without repeating the experiment.

UNCLE SAM EASY FOR BOOTLEGGERS

New Graft Scheme Unearthed In Ohio.

Columbus, O., June 10.—Federal authorities are of the opinion that an organized gang of bootleggers are working in Ohio on an old scheme successfully practiced in certain southern states, whereby members of the gang receive more money in the shape of witness fees and mileage than they do by the sale of liquor without a government license.

The system that is employed is simply this: During the interval between each term of court a gang of bootleggers will cause the arrest of one or possibly two of their number. They, of course, will be called as witnesses in the case and will have to make three trips to the city in which the case is being heard—the first when the prisoner appears before the commissioner, next when the grand jury is hearing the evidence and then when the case is tried.

Witnesses secure 10 cents a mile for transportation and $1.50 a day witness fees. If a man is forced to travel any great distance the sum which he receives from the government soon mounts upward, and as this trick can be worked two or three times each year, the government is put to a great expense.

The same man is never "turned up" the second time by the gang, for the second offense would probably mean a long jail sentence, and this is what they wish to avoid. None of the members of these gangs, however, are averse to serving a few months in some county jail.

VACATION SEASON AT HAND; WHERE TO GO IS QUESTION

Lake Erie's Shore Offers the Best of Inducements. Cedar Point Season Open June 10.

WINTER WINDS have whistled, sighs signal to weatherland the fact that spring is waning and soon again the summer sun will shine. Mankind, worn out and weary, longs for relaxation and recreation the months of June, July and August always bring, and the old familiar question, "Where Will I Spend My Vacation?" is uppermost.

The annual vacation has come to be a necessity. The doctor tells you so. One may think he—or she—can not afford it, but time will prove that relief from responsibility, with its burden of care and worry, is cheapest in the long run. If you do not invest in rest the chances are that you will be required to lay out twice, or maybe three times, as much as you would have spent if you had, in doctors' and druggists' bills.

A vacation is absolutely essential. Nature demands it. That feeling of tention from early in the morning until late at night, fully 95 per cent now make it a point to go somewhere for a few days, a week, a month, or longer, each summer. This is what has helped to swell the population of Cedar Point to such an extent that we have been forced to an expansion that has made the resort second to none in the country.

Cedar Point is today recognized by the most discriminating tourists as the leading summering place of the great Middle West. It is situated on a beautiful wooded peninsula eight miles in length, with Lake Erie's waters on the north, but a few short steps from those of the bay-scented Sandusky Bay on the south.

Cedar Point offers a very easy solution of the invariably perplexing question: "Where Shall I Spend My Vacation?"

Death of Large Land Owner.

Botenfield, Mrs. N. R. Sammett, of Versailles, Mrs. E. K. Luttrell, Mrs. John Butterfield, Mrs. Wm. Pavey, Mrs. Addie Burris, Mr. Chas. McKay, of Sabina, and Mrs. Cary Deer, of the Snowhill pike.

The funeral services were held at two o'clock Monday afternoon at the residence and were very largely attended by relatives and friends from all over the county and from Sabina, Leesburg and Washington C. H.

BAKER TRACTION CAR CRASHES INTO ANOTHER ENDANGERS MANY LIVES

Floyd Baker, son of Mr. G. W. Baker, of this city, owner of the Springfield and Washington traction line, was injured and the lives of many passengers threatened in a collision between one of the heavy interurbans and a city car Saturday night, in Springfield.

Sunday's Springfield Sun relates the accident as follows:

"A fatal accident to a score or more passengers was narrowly averted last night shortly before 11 o'clock when one of the large interurban cars of the South Charleston line side-swiped car No. 129 of the city street car line at the corner of Washington and Center streets. As a result Samuel Sanders, a passenger on the city line, was cut by flying glass and painfully bruised. Conductor Floyd Baker, son of President G. W. Baker of the Charleston line, was slightly bruised and a number of passengers received a shaking up.

Both cars were coming down Center street side by side and stopped at the Big Four tracks. The South Charleston car started first and in taking the turn crashed into the side of the city car, causing a panic among the passengers.

"Several passengers were on the rear platform of the city car and among the number was Xander, who was standing in the doorway ready to get off at Washington street. When the interurban car swung around it hit the rear part of the lighter car and almost pushed it off the track.

"Xander received a deep cut over the left eye about an inch and a half long, his right wrist was sprained and his shoulder bruised. Several other passengers on the platform of the car received bruises.

Floyd Baker, conductor of the interurban car, was standing on the rear platform, and he was bruised by being thrown against the side of his car. The entire woodwork of the rear platform of the interurban car was torn off and all the glass enclosing the platform was broken, being showered over Baker. However, he was able to make the return trip to Charleston."

RIGHT ON THE JOB.

He Didn't Believe In Letting the Place Seek the Man.

A little story of success starting with the use of want ads is contained in Business and the Bookkeeper. A Minneapolis manufacturer explains his liking for men who, even if they lack certain important qualities, have "initiative and originality."

The manufacturer, who at the time of which he spoke was just out of college in Chicago and out of work, answered an advertisement offering a position addressing, as instructed, "T24." He inclosed his reply in a large red envelope that could be seen and recognized at a distance. He was in the newspaper office early the following morning. In one of the boxes in which replies to advertisements were kept he saw his red envelope. He waited three hours until the letter in that box was given to a man calling for them. He followed the man to a west side factory. As the messenger laid the bunch of letters on the manager's desk the job hunter was standing by it.

"I'm ready to go to work," he said. The manager's reply was not "elegant," but in addition to being exclamationary it was interrogatory. How did he manage to present himself on the scene? The young man in need of the job pointed to his red envelope. The manager looked at it and looked at him. Then he turned to the messenger. "Find out who this young fellow is and put him to work," he said.

SEEING THE SIGHTS IN ROLLER CHAIRS.

distress coming over you—that feeling you call brain-fag, or, sometimes, that "tired feeling"—is the means nature employs of telling you so.

An interview with George A. Boeckling, president of the Cedar Point Resort company, owning and operating Cedar Point, the famous Lake Erie shore summer resort, is replete with proof of the fact that the vacation idea is becoming more popular each year, and that there are at the present time only about 10 persons out of each 100 who do not appreciate the necessity of recreation and relaxation.

Well provided with modern hotels and restaurants, Cedar Point offers a service second to none in the land. The resort's natural delights are such that sojourners who once visit her shores return year after year to renew old acquaintances and enjoy the pleasures a sojourn affords.

Ohio's lawmakers and officials have for the first time to hold their annual reunions upon other than Cedar Point soil. The Ohio Teachers' association and the learned lawyers comprising the membership of the Ohio State Bar association, have found Cedar Point breezes to their liking during

THE BOARD WALK AND BEACH.

Many to take their vacations in installments, spending two or three days or a week away from their employment at one time, and another period of like duration a little later on.

"I have noticed that the vacation taking throng has increased in size regularly since I have been at the head of the Cedar Point company," said President Boeckling. "Where, say 10 years ago, less than 50 per cent of the population of the country found time for absence from offices and stores, the school room and even from the farm, where daily toil as employer or employee demanded at-the hot summer season, and will be refreshed again. These, with the Ohio Bankers' association and numerous other bodies of men and women—national as well as state—will hold their annual conventions at Cedar Point. The dates have been fixed, the programs nearly if not quite completed and the arrangements otherwise made.

The vacation problem should not vex. Easily accessible from every section of Ohio and the states touching her borders, Cedar Point holds forth inducements no other summer place affords.

BOOTLEG BEER USED FOR BAIT.

In accordance with plans to use the confiscated bootleg beer for the purpose of baiting the fly traps on the streets, authorities prepared some of this novel bait Saturday by mixing it with brown sugar and placing it in the traps. That it will catch flies is proven by the large number of flies in the traps.

Some of the well known bootleggers can now rest in peace, knowing that the beer confiscated from them is being put to good use in the interests of the better health of the citizens of Washington.

ON THE PLEASANT LAZARUS AT CEDAR POINT.

THE FIFTEENTH ANNUAL DAHL-MILLIKAN EXCURSION EXCELS FORMER EVENTS

With a past record positively unequalled in the annals of complimentary trips to patrons, the Dahl-Millikan branch of the Midland Grocery Co., of Ohio, have arranged their fifteenth annual outing for July 10th and 17th, 1911, on a schedule that will eclipse all former efforts and give added prestige to this mammoth firm.

Last year the patrons of the Dahl-Millikan branch were promised a surprise in this outing. The promise is richly fulfilled by the company in the completion of its plans to make the wonderful Thousand Islands trip, the most picturesque river archipelago in the world, and crowning the grandest scenic waters of America.

It is a stupendous undertaking to promote and carry to a successful completion an outing of such magnitude with such an immense number of people as are booked for this outing, but the management of the Dahl-Millikan Co. is quite equal to it and the arrangements are made on such an elaborate scale and so perfected that the trip will be a notable event even to the widely traveled.

A member of the firm will personally conduct the outing as heretofore and will be assisted by a corps of salesmen.

The first outing starts by special train from Washington C. H. at 9:30 Monday morning July 10, and the second at the same hour and place July 17th, with Mr. L. W. Buckmaster, of the Hocking Valley railroad giving his personal attention to all railroad arrangements.

Outings start from both Jackson and Wilmington.

According to established custom the best of everything has been engaged and those fortunate enough to be guests on the outing will have nothing to do but enjoy the pleasures provided for them, realizing that accommodations will be procured for them and attention secured by the influence of this company beyond anything that a private trip would insure.

The trip will be made by boat from Detroit to Buffalo and the evening dinner, music and dancing on the steamer will be the beginning of the delightful vacation week.

At Buffalo the party takes a special New York Central train for Clayton, N. Y., lunching at Syracuse, N. Y., and at Clayton the Thousand Island steamer for Alexandria Bay.

The entire party will be entertained at the noted Thousand Island hotel and the interest and pleasure of this famed Thousand Island region, with its crystal river and gems of nature, are beyond description.

Among the special attractions planned are a fifty mile ramble on the Observation Steamer through the Thousand Island region and an electric search light excursion on the steamer St. Lawrence. This luxurious steamer makes a marvelous tour of the most beautiful of the American and wildest of Canadian islands, her great electric searchlight illuminating them as in the full light of the noonday sun.

Returning, a night and day will be spent at picturesque Niagara, with special sight-seeing provisions.

Saturday night brings back a party that will certainly have had a royal week.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Virtue of Vegetables.

Many vegetables play a useful part in helping us to solve our food problems. Cabbage, for example, is one of the best vegetables that can be selected for this purpose. Then we have onions, celery, radishes, carrots, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes and— one of the most important of all—horseradish. Among the herbs sorrel and rhubarb are perhaps the most useful. No food in the spring is better than rhubarb, while sorrel should be eaten every day, either in combination with other vegetables and herbs as a salad or as one of the herbs that are used to flavor the soup. To secure the best effect from the acid combining foods most of them should be eaten raw, or at least they should be cooked as slightly as possible. Too much cooking destroys the organic mineral salts, without which these foods would fail to accomplish their purpose. That is why we crave such things as raw celery and radishes. Those who have tried raw cabbage and raw onions sliced and served as a salad seldom go for a very long time without repeating the experiment.

UNCLE SAM EASY FOR BOOTLEGGERS

New Graft Scheme Unearthed In Ohio.

Columbus, O., June 10.—Federal authorities are of the opinion that an organized gang of bootleggers are working in Ohio on an old scheme successfully practiced in certain southern states, whereby members of the gang receive more money in the shape of witness fees and mileage than they do by the sale of liquor without a government license.

The system that is employed is simply this: During the interval between each term of court a gang of bootleggers will cause the arrest of one or possibly two of their number. They, of course, will be called as witnesses in the case and will have to make three trips to the city in which the case is being heard—the first when the prisoner appears before the commissioner, next when the grand jury is hearing the evidence and then when the case is tried.

Witnesses secure 10 cents a mile for transportation and $1.50 a day witness fees. If a man is forced to travel any great distance the sum which he receives from the government soon mounts upward, and as this trick can be worked two or three times each year, the government is put to a great expense.

The same man is never "turned up" the second time by the gang, for the second offense would probably mean a long jail sentence, and this is what they wish to avoid. None of the members of these gangs, however, are averse to serving a few months in some county jail.

VACATION SEASON AT HAND; WHERE TO GO IS QUESTION

Lake Erie's Shore Offers the Best of Inducements. Cedar Point Season Open June 10.

WINTER WINDS have whistled, sighs signal to weatherland the fact that spring is waning and soon again the summer sun will shine. Mankind, worn out and weary, longs for relaxation and recreation the months of June, July and August always bring, and the old familiar question, "Where Will I Spend My Vacation?" is uppermost.

The annual vacation has come to be a necessity. The doctor tells you so. One may think he—or she—can not afford it, but time will prove that relief from responsibility, with its burden of care and worry, is cheapest in the long run. If you do not invest in rest the chances are that you will be required to lay out twice, or maybe three times, as much as you would have spent if you had, in doctors' and druggists' bills.

A vacation is absolutely essential. Nature demands it. That feeling of tention from early in the morning until late at night, fully 95 per cent now make it a point to go somewhere for a few days, a week, a month, or longer, each summer. This is what has helped to swell the population of Cedar Point to such an extent that we have been forced to an expansion that has made the resort second to none in the country.

Cedar Point is today recognized by the most discriminating tourists as the leading summering place of the great Middle West. It is situated on a beautiful wooded peninsula eight miles in length, with Lake Erie's waters on the north, but a few short steps from those of lily-scented Sandusky Bay on the south.

Cedar Point offers a very easy solution of the invariably perplexing question: "Where Shall I Spend My Vacation?"

BAKER TRACTION CAR CRASHES INTO ANOTHER ENDANGERS MANY LIVES

Floyd Baker, son of Mr. G. W. Baker, of this city, owner of the Springfield and Washington traction line, was injured and the lives of many passengers threatened in a collision between one of the heavy interurbans and a city car Saturday night, in Springfield.

Sunday's Springfield Sun relates the accident as follows:

"A fatal accident to a score or more passengers was narrowly averted last night shortly before 11 o'clock when one of the large interurban cars of the South Charleston line side-swiped car No. 129 of the city street car line at the corner of Washington and Center streets. As a result Samuel Sanders, a passenger on the city line, was cut by flying glass and painfully bruised. Conductor Floyd Baker, son of President G. W. Baker of the Charleston line, was slightly bruised and a number of passengers received a shaking up.

Both cars were coming down Center street side by side and stopped at the Big Four tracks. The South Charleston car started first and in taking the turn crushed into the side of the city car, causing a panic among the passengers.

"Several passengers were on the rear platform of the city car and among the number was Sanders, who was standing in the doorway ready to get off at Washington street. When the interurban car swung around it hit the rear part of the lighter car and almost pushed it off the track.

"Sanders received a deep cut over the left eye about an inch and a half long, his right wrist was sprained and his shoulder bruised. Several other passengers on the platform of the car received bruises.

Floyd Braker, conductor of the interurban car, was standing on the rear platform, and he was bruised by being thrown against the side of his car. The entire woodwork of the rear platform of the interurban car was torn off and all the glass enclosing the platform was broken, being showered over Baker. However, he was able to make the return trip to Charleston."

RIGHT ON THE JOB.

He Didn't Believe In Letting the Place Seek the Man.

A little story of success starting with the use of want ads is contained in Business and the Bookkeeper. A Minneapolis manufacturer explains his liking for men who, even if they lack certain important qualities, have "initiative and originality."

The manufacturer, who at the time of which he spoke was just out of college, in Chicago and out of work, answered an advertisement offering a position, addressing, as instructed, "T2." He inclosed his reply in a large red envelope that could be seen and recognized at a distance. He was in the newspaper office early the following morning. In one of the boxes in which replies to advertisements were kept he saw his red envelope. He waited three hours until the letter in that box was given to a man calling for them. He followed the man to a west side factory. As the messenger laid the bunch of letters on the manager's desk the job hunter was standing by it.

"I'm ready to go to work," he said. The manager's reply was not "elegant," but in addition to being exclamatory it was interrogatory. How did he manage to present himself on the scene? The young man in need of the job pointed to his red envelope. The manager looked at it and looked at him. Then he turned to the messenger. "Find out who this young fellow is and put him to work," he said.

Death of Large Land Owner.

Mr. Jobe McKay, a wealthy farmer living on the Greenfield and Sabina pike in this county died Saturday afternoon, aged 78. All of Mr. McKay's life had been spent on his home farm and he was a man commanding the highest esteem of all who knew him. He leaves nine children, Mr. John McKay, of Wilmington, Mrs. F. M. Botenfield, Mrs. N. R. Sammett, of Versailles, Mrs. E. K. Luttrell, Mrs. John Butterfield, Mrs. Wm. Pavey, Mrs. Addie Burris, Mr. Chas. McKay, of Sabina, and Mrs. Cary Deer, of the Snowhill pike.

The funeral services were held at two o'clock Monday afternoon at the residence and were very largely attended by relatives and friends from all over the county and from Sabina, Leesburg and Washington C. H.

Charles Phillips Rents Barber Shop

Chas. Phillips, formerly employed in the Odd Barber shop, but who for several weeks has been in Utica, has rented the rooms formerly occupied by Chas. Bryant, as a barber shop, and will open up for business July 1.

Mr. Phillips is one of the best barbers that ever plied the blade in this city, and he will be assisted by two competent workmen. The room will be remodeled and refurnished with up-to-date fixtures, making it strictly first class in every way.

NEW BARBER SHOP OPENS TOMORROW.

A. E. Bass and W. W. Upthegrove, who purchased the Bryant barber shop fixtures, have rented the room formerly occupied by the E. T. Evans Plumbing Company in the Passmore building, and will open a four-chair barber shop tomorrow.

Bass has been employed by Chas. Bryant for several years. Bryant leaves the city this week to open up a shop elsewhere.

MUCH NEEDED STREET REPAIRS.

A gang of workmen are busy relaying the paved street opposite the Washington Savings Bank, where it has been so badly needed for so long. Time and again the street has been partially repaired, but not so thoroughly as at the present time. Cement is being placed for the brick to rest upon, insuring an even surface which could not otherwise be obtained. This method of repairing the paved streets certainly seems a good one.

BOOTLEG BEER USED FOR BAIT.

In accordance with plans to use the confiscated bootleg beer for the purpose of baiting the fly traps on the streets, authorities prepared some of this novel bait Saturday by mixing it with brown sugar and placing it in the traps. That it will catch flies is proven by the large number of flies in the traps.

Some of the well known bootleggers can now rest in peace, knowing that the beer confiscated from them is being put to good use in the interests of the better health of the citizens of Washington.

distress coming over you—that feeling you call brain-fag, or, sometimes, that "tired feeling"—is the means nature employs of telling you so.

An interview with George A. Boeckling, president of the Cedar Point Resort company, owning and operating Cedar Point, the famous Lake Erie shore summer resort, is replete with proof of the fact that the vacation idea is becoming more popular each year, and that there are at the present time only about 10 persons out of each 100 who do not appreciate the necessity of recreation and relaxation annually. Some find it necessary.

Well provided with modern hotels and restaurants, Cedar Point offers a service second to none in the land. The resort's natural delights are such that sojourners who once visit her shores return year after year to renew old acquaintances and enjoy the pleasures a sojourn affords.

Ohio's lawmakers and officials have for the first time to hold their annual reunions upon other than Cedar Point soil. The Ohio Teachers' association and the learned lawyers comprising the membership of the Ohio State Bar association, have found Cedar Point breezes to their liking during easy to take their vacations in installments, spending two or three days or a week away from their employment at one time, and another period of like duration a little later on.

"I have noticed that the vacation taking throng has increased in size regularly since I have been at the head of the Cedar Point company," said President Boeckling. "Where, say 10 years ago, less than 50 per cent of the population of the country found time for absence from offices and stores, the school room and even from the farm, where daily toil as employer or employe demanded at the hot summer season, and will be refreshed again. These, with the Ohio Bankers' association and numerous other bodies of men and women—national as well as state—will hold their annual conventions at Cedar Point. The dates have been fixed, the programs nearly if not quite completed and the arrangements otherwise made.

The vacation problem should not vex. Easily accessible from every section of Ohio and the states touching her borders, Cedar Point holds forth inducements no other summer place affords.
